FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

SUNDAY, May 24, 1863. Last week was one of the most active ever known on the Stock Exchange, though a very quiet week in merchandise and general business. fluctuated, very lifelessly, between 148 and 150, losing last evening at about 149. Exchange was extremely inert; at one time bankers were able to ell at 165; at others the best bid was 1621/2; the closing quotation yesterday was about 16314. The tendency of produce was downward. General merchandise, which is strongly held, was inactive, and to force sales concessions would have been neces-sory on the part of sellers. Both jobbers and retailers are operating from hand to mouth, waiting

The money market was active last week. Monday's excessive advance in stocks frightened bankers, and led to the calling in of a large number of and to a pretty extensive withdrawal of capital from the Stock Exchange. On Tuesday and Inesday it was difficult to borrow money on this unnatural stringency, in a market in which money is the most abundant of all articles, soon Sub-Treasury disbursed enormous sums, and money came pouring into Wall street from all quarters. The country is full of people who have money, and, fearing to make bad investments, like to use it temporarily in call loans on security. At least three times as much cent. Operators in "light timber," whose intrinsic alue is open to question, still find some difficulty leading railway shares money was yesterday abundant at 6 per cent, and the prospect was that the rate would fall this week. Commercial paper is wanted at 5 a 6 for the best names, and 6 a 7 for ordinary husiness paper. Debt certificates vary half to three-quarters of a million is absorbed without causing any depression in the price.

per cent. So unusual an advance in so short a time was sure to produce a reaction. Accordingly, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, a heavy fall took place, amounting on Eric to about 18 per cent, on Pittsburg to 17, and on the other active shares to 10 a 15 per cent. On Friday and yesterholders seem to have been pretty thoroughly weeded out, and the older and stronger class of opeings of the railways, as a rule, would justify present nually, with a fair prospect of increase in the future, cannot be considered exorbitantly dear at or near two millions per day among the people. And, finally, the speculative spirit is fairly aroused, and appears to pervade all classes. Just as was nce when the Credit Mobilier was first established, every one, no matter what his completely overshadowed by the immense crowd of outsiders, who conceive that they can take a far these speculators have generally succeeded, and they reck little of the day that is coming, when fortunes made in stocks will vanish like

The quiet manner in which Mr. Allan Campbell was dropped from the Presidency of the Harlem allway, at the meeting last week, is an event full of warning to railway managers. Mr. Campbell is known to be one of the very first railway men in the country; but he had so long had his own way with the Harlem—the stock being apparently worthless, and none of the holders caring what was done with the road-that he could not, it appears, bring himself to carry out the views of his constituents in the Broadway Railroad matter, and was accordingly superseded. We judge that other railway presidents will go the same way before long. For five years most of the railway stocks of this country have been unproductive, and holders have consequently been indifferent about them, and have suffered presidents and directors to do pretty much as they pleased. The roads are now all earning money, and stockholders are awaking to the prospect of income, and beginming to inquire into the management of the properties. In many instances their very proper inquiries and expectations are met in anything but a proper spirit by the presidents and directors, who have so long been lords paramount that many of them seem to have forgotten they are the servants, not the masters, of their stockholders. The result will obviously be pretty sweeping changes of direction; good railway men will soon command satisfactory employment. One concern which is likely to undergo renovation in this respect is the Cleveland and Pittsburg. Rightly or wrongly, the impression prevails that the directors of this property have been sacrificing the interests of the stockholders to their private speculations. It is well known that, by disparaging the value of the stock all the way from 20 to 100, they frightened many bona fide brolutely proved that they or their confederates stock thus sold under a misapprehension of the facts, it cannot be denied but the con duct of the board on the occasion of the consoliation with the Fort Wayne, and more recently in the matter of the receivership, justifies the gravest suspicions. Though the directors refuse to give their receipts to the press-from what motive one can only conjecture—it has transpired that they yield the company over ten per cent annually on the stock, besides a substantial sinking fund. Why, under these circumstances, the receiver has not been obliged to surrender the property, and a dividend has not been declared, is a mystery which defies explanation, and we are not surprised to hear that the new party, comprising a number of wealthy men, who now control considerably over half the stock, propose to put in a new direction within a short time. We trust that the Eric Railway will not prove another example of the same phenomens. Under the old management the property was administered, or rather " be-devilled," in the interest of one or two leading directors who speculated in the stock. The present President, Mr. Nathaniel Marsh, has never been implicated in these transactions, and is penerally esteemed an upright as well as an able hilway manager. For his own sake, and for that If the company, it is to be hoped that he will not bnd himself to any irregular manouvres in ) gard to dividends. Railway stockholders have penerally dispensed with income on their property for five years. The roads are now doing well, and they are entitled to the benefit of the improve-ment. It is not expected that any sacrifices will be made to declare large dividends. But where 2 reasonable amount to a sinking fund for the exbetter to divide the remaining surplus among stockholders, from time to time, rather than keep large sums on hand to tempt the honesty of administrators and engender extravagance among employes. If the Erie earns 16 per cent net this year, as now seems beyond doubt, stockholders in July, and as much more next January.

Saturday, by order of Thomas C. T. Buckley, administrator, &c., with the will annexed of Edward B. Lawrence, deceased, the following stocks:-
